Flowers Made From Costly Tissue Paper
Quite the Proper Fashion.

Making artificial flowers out of tissue paper is all the rage now among the young ladies," said a member of a firm dealing in tissue paper to a reporter, "and so great is the demand that large quantities are imported.

"A deep red shade used in making Jacquemine roses costs 10 cents a sheet and $22.00 a ream. It is imported and is a very difficult color to obtain. The number of different shades now made in this tissue paper reaches 125 and they are fine and graded.

"Not at all. The ladies become quite proficient in the work after a little practice. The choice of the flower to be reproduced in paper must of course depend upon the use to be made of it. If it is for room decoration it may be larger, fuller and more elaborate than if it is to be worn.

"For instance, the daisy-always looks well, whether in bunches or mixed with other flowers, is easily made. It is a good flower to begin on. It can be made of any size and when once the exact pattern has been taken, which is done by tracing from figures that are found in the book of designs, it can be varied to suit the taste, taking the appearance of a fully opened flower, or by simply pinching the cases together at a bud.

"In making this, as in making all paper flowers, thin wire is needed to support the paper stem, and occasionally a little wool cotton to give the raised appearance which is necessary to produce a perfect result.

"In making a daisy the most dead-white paper should be selected. Then, having decided upon the size of the flower, carefully follow the outlines of the leaves with a needle and thread.

FOR PRESIDENT,
BENJAMIN HARRISON,
Of Indiana.
FOR VICE-PRESIDENT,
LEVI P. MORTON,
Of New York.

Wednesday July 18, 1888

DESPITE his solemn declaration upon the evils of a President's eligibility to renomination, Mr. Cleveland is smilingly to the front for re-election. The old Roman of the red bandana declared: "I believe the best interests of the country require Mr. Cleveland's renomination." Yet Mr. Thurman himself is on record in the matter as follows: "My friends, you will never have any genuine reform in the civil service until you adopt the one-term principle in reference to the Presidency. So long as the incumbent can hope for a second term he will use the immense patronage of the government to procure his renomination and secure his re-election." * * * In public as in private affairs experience is constantly developing truths that cannot with safety be overlooked. It has developed the fact that the one-term principle is essential to purity in the civil administration of the republic. I repeat, until the principle be adopted and acted upon, you will have no genuine reform." Here are the Democratic President and Vice-President, both pretending to hold and solemnly expressing the same views when those views were made for their own interests or those of their party; and here are both of these honorable men dropping these views and flatly opposing them by their acts when the opposition is supposed to make for their personal advantage. Democratic principles are considerably mixed and muddled.

If any old soldier feels a doubt as to Harrison's feelings as concerns the men with whom he fought, let him read this and dispel his doubt. He has said: "The man who lived through the war of the rebellion and did not make some sacrifice for the success of the Union armies, who did not say one brave word or do one brave thing when, with bare and bleeding breasts, our soldiers looked into the face of hell for their country, can never be enshrined as the soldiers' friend." This was the soldier's comment on Senator Voorhees and his recent attacks upon brave men. Though it was directed against "the tall sycamore" it is equally applicable to General Harrison's present opponent.

As the law now is the District Attorneys of the several counties of the State, on and after the first day of January next, will be ex-officio County School Superintendents, and will have to perform the duties of that office in addition to the duties imposed as District Attorney. The school interests are increasing in importance, and the labors and work required of the School Superintendent will make the office of District Attorney more onerous than it has ever been, and to fill the dual office will require rather peculiar qualifications. Whether just or not there is no increase of salary with the ex-official duties of this county official.

From all parts of the country come tidings of this and that prominent local leader who is forsaking the Democracy and working for Harrison as the exponent of protection for the American workingman. One such, Judge George W. Smith, of Herkimer, N. Y., who has abandoned the Democracy on account of its Free-trade policy and pledged his support to Harrison and Morton, was a friend and political associate of Samuel J. Tilden. It will be remembered that Mr. Cleveland was never a Tilden Democrat and never had the confidence and support of the Sage of Gramercy.

It is not far from Indianapolis to Detroit, where the party of the Grand Council of the Independent Labor party of the United States Monday endorsed the Republican candidate for the Presidency as the friend of labor. If any respectable opinion to the contrary prevailed in Indianapolis or Indiana it would have been heard from in the council at Detroit.

OVER THE WIRES.

A Murderous Dynamite Plot.

An Anarchistic Scheme Exposed in Chicago.

The Hours of Labor of Government Employees Discussed in Congress —Miscellaneous.

A MURDEROUS PLOT.

An Anarchist Scheme to Blow up Buildings in Chicago.

CHICAGO, July 17.—A gigantic murderous plot on the part of Chicago Anarchists to blow up the Board of Trade building, several other large buildings and to murder Judge Grinnell, Judge Gary, Inspector Bonfield and other prominent persons engaged in the prosecution during the celebrated trial was nipped in the bud by Inspector Bonfield, Chief Hubbard, Lieutenant Elliott and the Central Detectives yesterday. The means used in the wholesale murder and destruction of property was the Anarchists' weapon, dynamite, and enough of that explosive was discovered yesterday to blow up half the city. Three of the conspirators are under arrest and are confined at the City Hall. Everybody supposed that the revolutionary spirit among the Anarchists had died out and no further trouble was anticipated, but conspiracy had been quietly brewing among the friends of Spikes, Parsons and the rest, and a diabolical plot was hatched and hundreds of lives were to be taken.

Inspector Bonfield has been the target of the conspiracy for some time. He waited until the evidence was complete, and last evening Detectives Nordrum, Rehan, Murtha and several others were told to meet him at the Central Station at two o'clock yesterday morning. The men were there, and after they had donned disguises they, in company with Bonfield and Elliott, proceeded to Deering-street Station, where a reserve force was on hand. There they waited for orders. The Inspector and his men proceeded to the corner of Thirty-third street and Ashland avenue, near where one of the leading conspirators resided. The house was closely watched. The Inspector expected to find a dozen or more Anarchists at the house, but his information on that point proved incorrect, as only two men were found. One of the suspected men came from the house just before daylight, and he was quietly taken into custody. The officers immediately entered the dwelling and another conspirator was found. Under his pillow was a knife and revolver, and upon searching the room twelve sticks of dynamite—enough to blow up the Grand Pacific hotel and Board of Trade—were found in a closet.

The officers next visited a house on Quinn street and another of the suspected was arrested and taken to the Deering-street Station, and from there all three were brought down town to the City Hall. A large quantity of dynamite was also found in the house on Quinn street.

The conspiracy is well known to Inspector Bonfield, and the men arrested were prominent Anarchists during the trial. It is said that one of them was under arrest soon after the explosion of the bombs at Haymarket, but was subsequently released.

The Inspector says that the plot was a well-arranged one. About twenty determined murderers were in the conspiracy and they were, at a certain hour after midnight next, to be at the homes of Grinnell, Cary, Bonfield, Frank Walker, General Stiles and others prominent in the prosecution. The dynamite was to be placed beneath the houses of these, and the powerful explosive was to be touched off simultaneously and a wholesale reign of terror inaugurated. The Board of Trade was to be blown to the sky at the same time.

This was the plot in detail, and further arrests will probably bring to light an even greater anticipated bloody horror.

Inspector Bonfield says his men know who the conspirators are and this afternoon additional arrests will be made.

The police observe strictest secrecy in the matter, but Inspector Bonfield was finally induced to say to the reporter: "Judges Grinnell and Gary were to be blown up by these fellows. And that is all I will say. You may add, however, that we have been aware of this diabolical plot for some time, and I think there will be another wholesale hanging. The explosion at Haymarket could not be compared to this. Hundreds of lives would certainly have been sacrificed had we not discovered the plot."

ANOTHER Veto.
WASHINGTON, July 18.—The President has vetoed the bill for the relief of Mary Fitzsimmons on the ground that she is already receiving precisely the same pension as the bill provides for.

HOURS OF LABOR.

Stewart's Amendment to Blair's Bill to Pay Government Laborers.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—The Blair bill, to pay laborers who have worked more than eight hours per day since the passage of the Hoar bill, was under consideration in the Senate to-day. Mr. Stewart read the following amendment, which was pending when the Senate adjourned:

"It shall be unlawful for any officer or agent of the United States to make any contract or arrangement whereby any laborer, workman, artisan or mechanic shall perform more than eight hours' labor in any one day, or shall receive for his services performed in any one day, more than the wages for one day's labor, except as herein otherwise provided; nor shall there be any deduction from the amount of wages of any laborer, workman, artisan or mechanic by reason of limitation to eight hours' work."

"Whenever the laborers, workmen, artisans or mechanics in the employ of the United States are unable to perform the labor required in eight hours per day, no person shall be employed to perform such extra or additional work, provided that in case of emergency, where the laborers, workmen, artisans or mechanics engaged in any part of the regular work or undertaking are unable to perform the desired labor in eight hours' time, owing to a necessity of the case, but other persons cannot be procured to perform such extra work or labor, and to meet such emergency as per contract, an agreement may be made with the workmen engaged on such labor to perform additional hours of labor, and to receive a corresponding additional compensation."

"Any officer or agent of the United States who shall wilfully violate the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on violation thereof be fined in any sum not exceeding $500."

SEEKING ENTRANCE.
Chinese Who Claim the Rights of American Citizenship.
PLATTSBURG, N. Y., July 18.—A party of Chinese from China via Vancouver and the Canadian Pacific took the train at Montreal on Tuesday for Plattsburg. The Custom House officials found all but three had certificates. Of these one had naturalization papers showing him to be a citizen of the United States, while the other two had papers showing that they had declared their intention of becoming citizens. The papers were made out in the County Clerk's office of Passaic county, N. J. Their examination was begun before the United States Commissioner today, but it was adjourned till Thursday in order to bring the Passaic County Clerk here to testify regarding the genuineness of the papers.

SHERIDAN.
He is Propped by Pillows and Converses With His Physician.

NEW BEDFORD, July 18.—General Sheridan passed a quiet and comfortable night. He was raised in bed yesterday afternoon and propped by pillows. He sat up and engaged in pleasant conversation with his physicians.

ANOTHER STORY.
WASHINGTON, July 18.—Private information received about Sheridan is altogether discouraging. It represents him too weak to lift his head without an effort, and is out of his head most of the time, and only kept alive by the most assiduous and skillful attention.

PAUPER IMMIGRATION.
NEW YORK, July 17.—The House Special Committee on Pauper Immigration and Contract Labor will begin its investigations in this city the first of next week. The committee, after finishing its labors here, will go to Boston and from thence to San Francisco, where Chinese immigration will be ventilated. The bill now before the committee provides for the seizure of any steamship knowingly violating the immigration laws.

POLITICAL POINTS.
It is now predicted that the Mills bill will pass the House about the 1st of August.

It is doubtful if the Democratic ratification meeting in Boston will be held before September.

General Harrison is said to be the ablest lawyer who has been nominated for the Presidency in fifty years.

Democratic laudation of Judge Thurman stopped suddenly. Hints from the White House are quickly taken.

Republican clubs are being rapidly organized throughout the country, and the National Committee is enthusiastic over the prospect.

Inspector Bonfield says his men know who the conspirators are and this afternoon additional arrests will be made.

The police observe strictest secrecy in the matter, but Inspector Bonfield was finally induced to say to the reporter: "Judges Grinnell and Gary were to be blown up by these fellows. And that is all I will say. You may add, however, that we have been aware of this diabolical plot for some time, and I think there will be another wholesale hanging. The explosion at Haymarket could not be compared to this. Hundreds of lives would certainly have been sacrificed had we not discovered the plot."

TEACHERS' CONVENTION.

The Nevada Teachers' Association of Prominent Persons.

Special Correspondence General.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 16, 1888.

EDITOR GAZETTE: There was a constant jam at the Nevada State reception room all day; so much so that the beautiful blonde was heard to complain that she didn't like the "squeeze!"

The county teachers of California opened headquarters at different places in the city and have their rooms decorated very beautifully with the fruits and products of the Golden State. Many of them have the work of the schools placed in their reception rooms so that one can find all the information he may wish about any part of the State. Oregon has taken the opportunity of advertising the resources of the State.

A large crowd gathered at the Odd Fellows' Hall this morning to hear the famous Hindoo lady, Pandita Ramabai, who, in a short address to the teachers, told of the education of girls in her country and requested the assistance of the ladies of this country so that she might be able to better their condition.

Delegate Richards read a paper on "Waste in Education." The paper was prepared by E. E. White of Ohio, and was quite long, though exceedingly interesting to the large audience present. It took up the common system of training children in the primary departments of schools and showed wherein it was devoted to "cramping" the pupils with impractical knowledge, and thought that too much time was given to details in geography, and that the time would soon come when arithmetic would "shrink" to moderate dimensions and exact laws. It further advocated the teaching of elementary science to the young pupils and the giving of much time to the development of good habits, good sense, sound judgment and its proper application.

The afternoon session was short. "The Business Side of City School Systems" was the topic under consideration. It condemned our election system of school trustees, the reasons being that it had a tendency to divide the schools into political divisions.

Nevada headquarters have become the most conspicuous of all the headquarters. Col. Nathaniel H. R. Dawson, United States School Commissioner, has made them his headquarters. State Superintendent W. C. Dovey arrived to-day and will now head the Nevada delegation. Many prominent men gave us a call to-day, among whom were Gen. Henry De Lamar Clayton, President of the Normal School of Alabama; Charles P. Davidson, Principal of the High Schools in Alliance, Ohio; Joseph O'Connor, ex-Deputy Superintendent of Schools of this city; Rev. J. B. Stewart, D. D., of Riverside, California; Rev. D. W. Hanna, A. M., Los Angeles; Col. J. A. Hardin of Nevada; and Miss Kate Newcomb, D. S. L.

FACING THE TRUCKEE—THE ARISTOCRATIC RIVERSIDE AVENUE DRIVEWAY—SPLENDID SEWERAGE—HEALTHY LOCATION AND SAFE FROM FIRE.

The proprietor is now ready to receive proposals for lots in Powning's Addition. The map gives a good idea of the tract, which is situated between the Central Pacific Railroad and the Truckee River, and commences on the west at a point three blocks distant from Virginia street, making it the most central and convenient of any portion of the rapidly growing town of Reno. Unlike any other part of the town, this addition faces the beautiful Truckee River, and Riverside avenue is certain to become the fashionable driveway of the country. The streets are 80 feet wide, while Riverside and Keystone avenues are intended to be 100 feet in width. All alleys are 20 feet wide. The soil is a rich gravelly loam, and susceptible of the highest state of cultivation. Being situated as it is, it is more exempt from fire than any other section. The regular lots are 50x140 feet. The sewerage is perfect.

Before buying elsewhere, parties will do well to look at these lots.

MISCELLANEOUS.

AYER'S PILLS

CURE HEADACHE.

Headaches are usually induced by costiveness, indigestion, foul stomach, or other derangements of the digestive system, and may be easily cured by the use of Ayer's Pills. Mrs. Mary A. Scott, Portland, Me., writes: "I had suffered dreadfully from Sick Headache, and thought myself incurable. Disorder of the stomach caused it. Ayer's Pills cured me entirely."

CURE BILIOUSNESS.

John C. Pattison, Lowell, N. H., writes: "I was attacked with Bilious Fever, which was followed by Jaundice. I was so dangerously ill, that my friends despaired of my recovery. I commenced taking Ayer's Cathartic Pills, and soon regained my customary strength and vigor. I feel certain that I owe my recovery to your invaluable Pills."

CURE INDIGESTION.

Ayer's Pills act directly on the digestive and assimilative organs, influencing healthful action, imparting strength, and eradicating disease. G. W. Mooney, Walla Walla, W. T., writes: "I have suffered from Dyspepsia and Liver troubles for years past. I found no permanent relief, until I commenced taking Ayer's Pills, which have effected a complete cure."

Sold by all Druggists.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass., U. S. A.

CURE RHEUMATISM.

Rheumatism is among the most painful of the disorders arising from vitiated blood and derangement of the digestive and biliary organs. Ayer's Pills relieve and cure Rheumatism when other remedies fail. S. M. Spencer, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "I was confined to my bed, with Rheumatism, three months, but, after using a few boxes of Ayer's Pills, became a well man."

CURE GOUT.

S. Lansing, Yonkers, N. Y., writes: "Recommended to me as a cure for chronic Costiveness, Ayer's Pills have relieved me not only from that trouble, but also from Gout. If every victim of the disease would heed only three words of mine, I could banish Gout from the land. Those words would be, 'Try Ayer's Pills.'

CURE PILES.

Piles are induced by habitual constipation, debility, indigestion, or a morbid condition of the liver. A cure is best effected by the use of Ayer's Pills. John Lazarus, St. John, N. B., writes: "I was cured of the Piles by the use of Ayer's Pills. They not only cured me of that disagreeable disorder, but gave me new life and health."

They admitted having lived all their time in Connecticut, and to have only come to the South two years before. They were however, staunch Yankees. After considerable conversation Admiral Porter said:

"And do you mean to tell me that you two gentlemen, after living in your native State twenty-nine and twenty-seven years respectively, after forming the deepest ties and associations, can come South, and in two short years be won over by these people—one of you by hiring his cart, the other for I don't know what?"

"Wall, Kurnell," said Mr. Potter, "you talk durned well, but all them hifalutin' words is wasted on me; if you had married a wildcat widow, with a wildcat daughter sixteen years old, an' Jeff Davis a backwoods 'em up, you wouldn't stand out an hour, and stuck it out for three days an' nights, a sittin' out in the rain, before I became a Con-fed'erat."

"Yes," interrupted Mr. Opdyke, "the ole woman kap a double-barrel gun handy for him, an' says she, Jake, don't you move till you're ready to become one of us, or I'll work some buttonholes in your dam Yankee carcass!"

"And what made you surrender, Mr. Potter?" I inquired.

"Why," replied that worthy, "when Zeke he come over to fetch me some whisky, my ole woman she run out and smashed the bottle over Zeke's head an' then, when I was most 'most dead, she took a hot iron and stuck it in his eye. Then she eat, she sent me a bowl of hot water with a chicken feather in it. That's says she, 'that's chicken soup to you what I went through with; you wouldn't have stood it, a day, Kurnell. I know it by the cut of your jib."

On being asked how he came to marry such a woman, Mr. Potter professed his inability to rehearse the harrowing tale, unless he had "a drink of whisky." Some "vinegar bitters" being ordered for him, which the newly-fledged Confederate characterized as "real ole Union, an' no mistake." Mr. Potter still preferred that his comrade, "Zeke," should tell the story.

"Yes," said his friend, "just as soon as I get a mouthful of them bitters to sustain me, I'll tell you the melancholy story of your marryin' that darned alligator, as goes certain' round the house as if she owned all the guano islands in the Pacific Ocean."

"Well, you must know, Kurnell, me Jake was hired hands on Ma Rumpkin's place. We was hired the day ole Rumpkin died to help handle the coffin, an' two weeks arter I hearin' that girl of hers say, 'Ma, I'm tired a totin' wood an' feedin' the cow, an' we must have a man ter do it.'

"Well," said Mrs. Rumpkin, "we got two men? Make one of 'em tote wood: they kin do it when they comes to themfems."

"I asked one of 'em," said Belle, "he tolle me he'd seen me durned first. We don't want that kind of a man, ma; we want a married man. We can do na we pleases with a good-natured older fellow like old Jake, who can't get away if we need him. You must marry Jake or Zeke. If you don't will, an' I'd like to tell her man she then'll see me durned first."

"You're crazy, Belle," says the old cattamount. "Your pup's only dead two weeks, an' you want me to marry ag'in."

"Well, then," says Belle, "say three weeks, an' bring him to the halter, for I ain't a goin' to tote wood, nor feed no more cow arter that."

"Well, I agree to that," says old Mrs. Rumpkin.

"Cos if you don't," says Belle, "I'll marry one on 'em myself, an' we'll see whose mistress then."

"I wish you could a seen how Mrs. Rumpkin laid out her lines. You seen a cat a watchin' a canary bird, ain't you? how the critter creeps along and paws soft a Jew's harp; an' then you seen the same bird jumpin' round all in a twitter, an' how at last, when the canary clings with its claws to the wires of its cage, Mrs. Cat grab him, an' he's a gone."

"That's the way Mrs. Rumpkin done. Says she, 'Belle, I'll take Jake. I don't like that other feller; he eats too much, an' I'll get rid of him.' So she piled it sweet on Jake until he didn't know his alphabet from the multiplication table, an' then she lassoed him. You seen 'em catch cattle in Texas? They have a long lariat, an' throw it over the critter's horns, goin' full split, and bring him up all standin'. Now Mrs. Rumpkin uses her long oily tongue for a lariat, an' so wound it round Poor Jake he couldn't a tolle who he was; then, when he was quit as an ole horse with a cart-load of bricks belled him, she searched his offices.

"Here, Square," says she, "is a man wot owes me a reparation, an' I'll pay off for the marriage ceremony, an' here's the same ring as poor, dear Rumpkin put on my finger, an' I'll use it ag'in. This feller is a Yank, an' I want him to see that he can't come down here an' win the affections of a lone widder, an' then go off an' larf at her."

"Well, sir," says the Squire to Jake, "what have you got to say to these here charges?"

"Dunno," says Jake.

"Well, then, stan' up an' be married, or else be drafted into the Con-fed'it army," says the Squire. "So he was married, an' there's the widder in her room toted him home, an' says she: 'Now, Jake, along you get a bit o' weddin' cake, tote in the wood for the day, an' mix the feed for the cow.' Jake obeyed orders, an' has been the most successful husband in the county."
